Overview

The Soladey toothbrush is a new type of toothbrush that uses light and water to help brush your teeth! The light (be it from indoor light or sunlight) and water reacts with the technology, creating negatively charged electrons. These electrons work when you brush to help remove plaque. The Feno Smartbrush, in addition to being a cleaning tool, analyzes oral health markers to detect broader systemic risks. Its app allows users to track brushing habits, provides an oral health report and gives users the ability to chat with an oral health coach. Are You Interested In?
