

When will the solar container giant wake up

Overview

Current modelling suggests that the incoming CMEs will catch up to each other right when they reach Earth - so we're right in the path of a powerful geomagnetic storm that could rival that of 2024. This means we're likely not in danger, but you may be in for a spectacle over the next. The Sun is a huge fusion reactor that supports all life on Earth. The Sun's light contains 24 trillion times more energy than humanity uses today. It is an unending source of energy. and brings it down to Earth using mirrors in space. All Rights Reserved.
